Start Work On Second Tractor Unit at Once

JANESVILLE MAN LANDS SAMSON JOB

JOHN P. CULLEN BID FOR WORK IS ACCEPTED TODAY.
RUSH WORK TO COMPLETION
Finish By End of Summer—Unit Will Be Same Size As First.

John P. Cullen was today awarded the contract for building the second big unit of the Samson tractor plant. Construction will start at once. A force of more than 100 men will be here almost immediately to begin actual operations. Mr. Cullen plans to have the entire job completed before the end of the summer. The new building will be used for the building of engines. It is possible that construction of the third unit will begin this year.

500x200 Feet.

The dimensions of the second unit will be identical to the same as those of the first, 500 by 200 feet. When completed the company will have a floor space of more than 200,000 square feet.

The unit will be built parallel to, and south of the present structure. A 40-foot court will divide the main parts of the buildings. An all will be constructed uniting the office building with the second unit. The all will be two stories high, while the main part of the unit will be but one story.

In the all space is provided for a restaurant and recreational rooms for employees. The entire length of the office part of the two buildings will then be 450 feet.

The second unit, which was on the second unit was reached by Samson officials several weeks ago. Bids were called for and the general contract for plans and specifications was let to the Chase Engineering company. Bids for the general work were then called for with the result that Mr. Cullen was today awarded the job.

Mr. Cullen built the first unit, which was recently completed.

The department says that the winter of 1918-19 was a severe one, it was mild, a repetition of the congestion that occurred last winter at terminal elevators and on railroads in the movement of wheat from the west to the east, might cause heavy losses if adequate provision is not made for storage.

ORLANDO EXPLAINS STAND TO ITALIAN PARLIAMENT

Rome, Tuesday, April 29.—Premier Orlando laid before the Italian parliament tonight the details of his demands for Fiume and the Dalmatian coast districts.

Addressing himself to the attitude of Italy at the peace conference and the justice of her demands, the premier said:

"Italy did not measure her sacrifices by the letter of her treaty with the allied powers and did not ask for help when she had to withstand the shock of the Austrian army, as she might have done under the treaty. Therein she only did her duty as the allies have done, but that fact transpires in the blood of Italian fellow-citizens and it was in that sense that Italy appealed to the allied peoples and governments."

"The question of Fiume was not first brought forward by Italy, but by unwilling acts of spontaneous will which began with the declaration of Fiume's representative in the Hungarian parliament, and which was subsequently confirmed when Fiume proclaimed herself Italian town."

"Can our great nation remain inert and unmoved by the vehement and despairing appeal of this people whose blood is of our blood? No, Italy does not need to put forward a formal demand in support of her demands, feeling sure that violence will not be done to the will of this Italian town."

Premier Orlando reiterated that the treaty of London did not prevent the allies from considering the Fiume question from the Italian viewpoint and that moreover the allies had admitted they were in no wise bound regarding Fiume since they considered themselves capable of agreeing to the freedom of the city."

"It is our desire and firm resolve," he said, "that the alliance shall not be broken up. We wish to remain loyal to it for the sake of the solemn pledge which binds our word of honor, but still more for the holiness of blood shed in a common cause."

Calling All To Stay At Helm

"After paying tribute to all the allied soldiers, the Premier continued: 'The allies of yesterday must be the allies of today, and all their peoples above all the American people, who sacrifice themselves for the victory of an ideal, must remain at the helm together in the tie of loyal friendship.'"

"Obeying the supreme command of the Italian government and realizing the solemnity of the hour, I affirm before this parliament that its is animated by all that spirit of conciliation which is compatible with the unavoidable exigencies of national conscience and dignity."

"With the same sincerity, I say that I cannot determine in this difficult moment in what forms or by what means we can reach the object because in the last solemn convocation that occurred April 24, there arose a difference, not only regarding our point of view but also between that of our allies and our associated powers."

Faces Difference of Opinion

"Therefore, in the present state of affairs, Italy is not facing a solution in which the allied and associated governments agreed with an insurmountable measure of agreement. Nor is there a proposal of compromise upon which all are agreed, but instead she is facing a difference of opinion which virtually denies the actual possibility of a special territorial condition reserved to Italy to be contained in the peace treaty accepted by all the allied and associated powers."

"The members of the government and of the Italian delegation therefore, await your verdict with serene hearts."

"With serene hearts, the people also await events. They who kept their faith unshakable, their nerves firm and sound, their soul firm and their spirits high, even when the appalling misfortune of war fell upon them—why should they feel or act differently now when facing difficulties, which, while certainly hard, are bringing about peace, without weakness, without overboldness, not overcome with doubt which would be injurious, nor carried away by an exaltation unworthy of a great people, Italy in this neutral must show conscious and austere calm."

"The principal necessity now is that all, in common fervor and devotion to mother country, should determine with sincerity and harmony, to face the outcome of this great battle which faith in the ally has spared us. Once again I plead that in this hour of immense responsibility for all, the truth may come between men's differences and the conflicts of parties."

"Let us wait until tomorrow to renew our struggles. They will be illuminated by the glory of a greater Italy."

Nations Respond to Appeal

"Can our great nation remain inert and unmoved by the vehement and despairing appeal of this people whose blood is of our blood? No, Italy does not need to put forward a formal demand in support of her demands, feeling sure that violence will not be done to the will of this Italian town."

Premier Orlando reiterated that the treaty of London did not prevent the allies from considering the Fiume question from the Italian viewpoint and that moreover the allies had admitted they were in no wise bound regarding Fiume since they considered themselves capable of agreeing to the freedom of the city."

MARYLAND NOT TO SEE WILLIARD-DEMPSEY GO

Baltimore, Md., April 30.—Governor Harrington this evening turned down the petition of Mayor Koons and the Chamber of Commerce and other leading citizens of Cumberland for permission to stage the Willard-Dempsey fight in that city. The governor would not give the Cumberland people a guarantee of noninterference. He said he was not satisfied that the "glove contest" would not degenerate into a "prize fight" and that more than twelve rounds would be fought. In fact, he said, he had read in a New York paper a statement that nothing less than a twenty-five-round fight between the pugilists would be tolerated. The Cumberland people are very much disappointed.

San Salvador Quake Damage Extensive

(By Associated Press.)
New York, April 30.—Cable reports received by the South American Cable company indicate that the earthquake which occurred in San Salvador two days ago may prove as disastrous as the great quake of 1917. It was said at the offices of the company today. No details have been received but the company's agent in San Salvador cabled that the damage was extensive, the disaster apparently rivaling that of 1917.

MORE SPEED IS SLOGAN OF "V" DRIVE

$300,000 MARK REACHED ON THIRD DAY—WORKERS OPTIMISTIC.

$7,269 MUST BE RAISED HOURLY

Matheson Blames Over-Confidence For Poor Showing—'Push Hard,' Plea.

VICTORY LOAN DATA.
Janesville Quota ..... $850,000
Amount subscribed ..... 301,650
To be subscribed ..... $528,350

Janesville must subscribe $7,269 every hour from now until Saturday night if the Victory loan quota is to be raised in the prescribed time.

Although the slowness of subscription during the past three days is somewhat discouraging, optimism still reigns at campaign headquarters and the feeling is still expressed that the quota will be reached by Saturday. Not then the drive will have to continue until the closing day, May 10.

More Speed Is Slogan.

"Speed" will be the slogan of workers. If the quota is to be subscribed by the date it means that $2 must be obtained every second, $120 every minute.

Bells and whistles at 2 o'clock this afternoon announced the start of the week, one and all push and push hard, and the fourth lap begun. The total subscriptions up to 2 o'clock today as tabulated at headquarters were $301,650.

County Drive Slow.

Although no figures are available on the county campaign, it is felt by A. E. Matheson, publicity chairman, and W. H. Dougherty, speaker, that the county campaign is not responding to the call as they have in the past. "Buy more bonds," is the plea of the county campaign officials. "We have been overconfident," said Mr. Matheson today. "The amount of the issue having been reduced from an expected $6,000,000 to $4,500,000, some of us have let ourselves down at least 50 per cent and some have let themselves down 75 per cent. We must work harder and buy more liberally if the loan is to be a success in Janesville and some other parts of the county."

"It will be a serious reflection if we don't make this last drive a real success and do it in a way that shows a patriotic and grateful attitude. So let us now, for the remainder of the week, one and all push and push hard, that Saturday night may find us with our quotas raised everywhere in Rock county."

Women workers, canvassing the streets and door-to-door, have been out soliciting the past two evenings as well as days. Nearly everywhere they are obtaining subscriptions, but they complain that the people are not signing up for but half that amount this time.

Four Public Meetings.

At a very early hour, employees of the Rock River Machine company at noon today will speak at a rally of the three camp fire groups in Milton Junction at 9 o'clock this evening.

Ray Cannon, overseas soldier, and Robert J. Cunningham are the speakers for the meeting in the Maloy district school. Miss Evelyn Merlett, teacher, and Miss Schoppe, tomorrow Principal George Bassford will talk at the rally to be held in Miss Frances Hunt's school near Milton tomorrow evening.

The meeting in the Otter Creek school, Miss Stolina Tundel, teacher, Friday evening, is expected to be a large one. P. J. E. Wood will be the speaker.

Automobile owners are asked to donate the use of their cars for the county campaign. The Beloit campaign for $850,000 was launched yesterday.

One Fourth Subscribed.

Washington, April 30.—Subscriptions to the Victory loan officially reported to the treasury today passed one billion dollars. Thus with the campaign nearly half over, less than one-fourth of the $4,500,000,000 total has been subscribed.

PEACE and WAR

(By Associated Press.)

Premier Orlando's government and the Italian delegation at the peace conference received a note of confidence from the Italian parliament last night. The vote in the chamber of deputies was 382 to 40 and in the senate it was unanimous.

What effect this action will have on the Council of Three is problematical. Paria advises carry the view, however, that the return of the Italian delegation is not expected, for the present at least, and that it is planned to proceed with the process of making peace with Germany regardless of any action by Italy.

Meanwhile the rival claims of Japan and China to the former German fortress of Kiaochow are reported to have been reconciled. From a statement made by the Japanese delegation, according to a Paris dispatch, it appears that a plan has been formulated which it is hoped will prove acceptable, both to China and Japan. That the nature of the proposed solution is remains undisclosed. The question was under discussion by the Council of Three in a session with the Japanese delegates yesterday.

The all German delegation which is to receive the terms of the allies late this week now is at Versailles. It is expected that the initial meeting will be held Friday but it may be found impossible to prepare the treaty for representation before Saturday.

When the German plenipotentiaries arrived at Vaucresson, near Versailles late last night, it was seen that the trip accompanied by a heavily armed escort of at least one demonstration, a window in one of the railway stations being broke by a missile.

Belgium's claims for reparation were presented to the Council of Three yesterday and it is understood that a grave situation was outlined as prevailing in that country. One correspondent's report of the proceedings given went so far as to say that Belgium received financial aid it might be impossible for the Belgian delegates to sign the peace treaty.

Munich is completely surrounded by German government troops and it seems probable that a converging attack on the soviet troops holding the city may begin at any time. Heavy columns of Prussians are reported to be engaged in the movement.

LENINE AND TROTSKY SEEKING SAFE REFUGE

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, April 30.—Official advice reaching Washington through a neutral source said that bolshevik leaders, Lenin and Trotsky, were seeking refuge outside Russia, fearing a possible overthrow of the soviet government.

The significance of these advices as officials view the information is that the two bolshevik leaders are numbered among the days of bolshevism are numbered.

Germans to Read All About It in High Priced Books

(By Associated Press.)

Berlin, Tuesday, April 29.—The spring book lists continue to feature memoirs by former government officials and military leaders. The latest acquisition being two comprehensive volumes written by former Imperial Chancellor Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg. The first volume deals with political developments preceding the outbreak of the war.

German publishers are apparently putting an extraordinary appraisal on the foreign interest in these books as they are demanding high royalties for American and English editions.

The proposal is made in some quarters that the government seize manuscripts compiled by leaders of the revolution and include them among the foreign securities which are being requisitioned for the purpose of paying for food shipments from abroad.

The speed with which distinguished authors are rushing into print has prompted the suspicion that they are running to get under cover and that forthcoming publications promise interesting recriminations and revelations.

The latter is said to be specially true of the book by Admiral von Tirpitz.

Newspaper Ranks Raided by Soviets

(By Associated Press.)

Budapest, Saturday, April 26.—Six hundred arrests have been made by the soviet authorities, virtually every financier, publisher, editor, writer, manufacturer and minister of Hungary who could be reached, being thrown into prison. More than 30 editors and newspaper owners as well as a large number of reporters, have been taken into custody. It is alleged, because they have refused to accept bribes to champion the soviet cause.

32nd Division To Be Welcomed Home in East

(By Associated Press.)

Madison, Wis., April 30.—The thirty-second division, composed of men from the Wisconsin national guard will be welcomed home by a delegation at New York May 4-5. Official word was received here today that certain contingents had sailed. Gov. Philip will appoint the following committee to go to New York to welcome the returning soldiers: Gen. Charles R. Boardman, Oshkosh; Gen. Charles King, Milwaukee; Gen. R. A. Richards, Sparta; Gen. Otto Falk, Milwaukee; Lieut. Col. G. B. Neenan, Milwaukee; Lieut. Col. C. R. Williams, Camp Douglas; Col. Wilmer M. Lee, Oconto; Col. Marshall Cousins, Eau Claire; Col. J. P. Joachim, Madison; Col. John Turner, Muskego; and Col. G. A. Green, Milwaukee. If possible, Gov. Philip intends to accompany the delegation.

Col. John Salsman, Madison, is also to be appointed on the delegation.

The following official word of sailing has been received by Adjutant General Helway: "57th field artillery headquarters and 120th field artillery of 32nd division, sailed on Milwaukee, due New York May 5. 119th field artillery, 32nd division, sailed on Fredericksburg, New York May 4th."

Gov. Philip said that he had made application to the war department for equipment for a big reunion at Milwaukee in September. He is also asking the government for a one-cent railroad fare. He thinks there will be 75,000 men at the reunion.

Formula for JAPAN KNOT FOUND

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, April 30.—A formula for the solution of the problem of Japan, which it is hoped will remove any possibility of a definite break and prove mutually acceptable to the Chinese and Japanese, has been reached by the plenipotentiaries of the Japanese government.

The Council of Three met today a half hour earlier than usual. It was believed the Italian situation as developed by the plenipotentiaries and endorsement of the Italian delegations position was to be considered.

Neither the Japanese nor the Chinese delegates appeared during the first hour of the session but were seen on the part of the plenipotentiaries, whose financial claims have been under consideration by the council.

Germans on Hand

The German plenipotentiaries who arrived in Versailles last night, were greeted by cold, raw weather, with occasional rain squalls and the chief figures of the delegation slept late.

The May Day strike applies to the Versailles hotels, but it is understood it will not be allowed to deprive the plenipotentiaries of their meals and service as usual tomorrow.

When the German delegation, headed by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, reached Versailles last night, it was received by M. Challer, prefect of the department of Seine-et-Oise. The counts secretary, Herr Rudiger, subsequently remarked to the newspaper men present:

"Words fail to describe my feelings as I crossed your devastated regions. I hope the peace which we are about to sign, will give satisfaction to all the nations which participated in the war."

The first session of the peace congress will be held in the room now used by the supreme council, and will be devoted to a verification of credentials.

"The text of the peace treaty will be presented to the Germans at the second session."

(By Associated Press.)

LIGHT SEEN IN ITALIAN CLOUD OVER FIUME CLAIM

PREMIER BACKED BY PARLIAMENT; ADDRESS IS CONCILIATORY.

SAYS SITUATION IS "VERY GRAVE"

Outlines Exchanges Between Himself and Wilson on Land Dispute.

(By Associated Press.)

Rome, Tuesday, April 29.—Premier Orlando's government was given a unanimous vote of confidence in the Italian senate tonight following the vote of confidence given him by the house of deputies. A great demonstration followed the premier's address before the senate.

Premier Vittorio Orlando's work at the peace conference in Paris received vindication in the chamber of deputies tonight when a vote of confidence was given him, 382 to 40. The ballots opposing the resolution were cast by the intransigent socialists.

Enthusiastic cheers greeted the arrival in the chamber of the premier and of Foreign Minister Sonnino and these were repeated as telegrams were read from Fiume, Zara, Sebenico, Spalato and the Island of Benazza demanding their annexation by Italy.

The prime minister, pale with emotion, received an ovation which lasted several minutes, while the result of the vote on the motion of Deputy Luzzatti was hailed with a deafening storm of cheers. The text of the resolution adopted by the chamber follows:

"The chamber, the guardian of the dignity and the interpreter of the will of the Italian people, declares itself in unison with the government and confirms its full confidence in it for the defense of the supreme rights of the nation and for securing a just and durable peace."

Calls Situation Grave.

The premier laid before the parliament the details of his demands for Fiume and the Dalmatian coast districts. He began by saying that the international situation was "very grave for Italy." He said that it was the duty of Italy to preserve an attitude of calm and serenity at the present moment.

An outline of the exchanges between himself and President Wilson was given by Signor Orlando, who made clear that the Italian position in making public his statement as to Italy's claim to Fiume had made it impossible either to accept or reject any proposition that might be made.

Lp. President Wilson the American viewpoint on Fiume, he said he thought an agreement was probable.

In the course of his address the premier spoke of the attitude taken at Paris by the British and French governments, which he said, had been loyal to promises made in the treaty of London which was framed in 1918. He admitted, however, that both France and Great Britain do not stand with Italy in her demands for the annexation of Fiume. He added that they might, however, be persuaded to the creation of Fiume as an independent free state. In discussing the American memorandum which was handed to him April 14 and which was distributed among the members of parliament today by the premier, Signor Orlando said:

"Inasmuch as this memorandum denied Italy's right over the Dalmatian islands, according only incomplete liberty to Fiume, I told Mr. Wilson it was absolutely impossible for me to agree to peace on the conditions indicated. I added that under such conditions the Italian delegation felt it could not continue to participate in the conference with any benefit for others or dignity for Italy, but said I would continue to attend the representatives of the allied powers with which Italy was bound by special agreements."

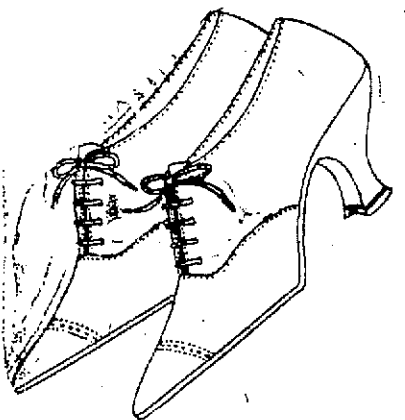

"Vote of Confidence.

"The Italian delegation did not maintain an obstinate attitude, but co-operated during the following days (CONTINUED ON PAGE TWO)

FEDERAL 10 PER CENT TAX ON CLOTHING IS EFFECTIVE TOMORROW

A $5 shirt can be bought today for $5. Tomorrow all $5 shirts will retail at $5.50, as the result of the new federal merchandise tax, commonly known as the luxury tax, which takes effect at that time.

A trunk which can be bought today for $75 will cost $77.50 beginning tomorrow.

The government has set a scale of minimum prices which are not taxable. On all articles selling above the minimum price, a 10 per cent tax on the difference between the two prices will be charged. For instance, the minimum price on a man's shirt is fixed at $2. If he pays $5 for a shirt he must pay the 10 per cent tax on the $3 difference, making the cost $5.30.

Janesville merchants have made rules for the collection of the new tax and all salesmen have been instructed to advise customers of the details of the tax.

The minimum prices the government has set, above which the 10 per cent tax must be paid is given below. On the following articles the tax will be required on all amounts in excess of those printed here:

DRAFTED MAN TELLS BEAR STORY; ASKS PAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, April 30.—The members of the senate state affairs committee and the joint finance committee who heard the story of Homer P. Herbert, Chippewa county, Tuesday afternoon, will vote for the passage of the Kandish bill removing the protection on bears.

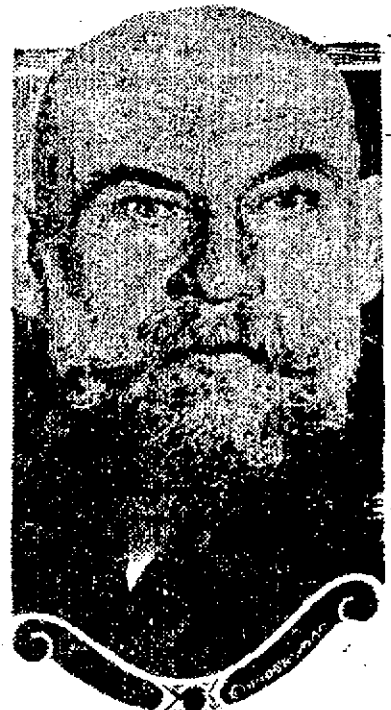

Young Herbert appeared before the committee in support of a bill to appropriate $500 to him for the loss of 32 head of sheep which were killed by bears while he was in the service. "I had the land and was shown that it would be a patriotic duty to raise sheep," said Herbert. "I accordingly bought 75 head of sheep, built a new closely woven wire fence around an 80 acre field and was not only taking good care of the sheep but making a study of them when I was drafted, July 14. In September, while I was in service bears broke down the fence and killed 32 head of sheep."

W. E. Barber, chairman of the conservation commission told the committee that the case had been thoroughly investigated and that the commission felt that in this case the state really owed the young man for the sheep.

INDIANS OWNED LAND SOLD BY STATE, ORDER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, April 30.—The joint legislative finance committee today approved a bill to reimburse the purchasers of school lands on the Bad River and Menominee Indian Reservations, the United States supreme court having declared the state never held title to the lands and therefore had no right to sell them.

A few years ago the Indians began claiming the lands, much of which had been sold by the state. The matter was taken into the courts and the Wisconsin supreme court held the state had received the lands from the government and therefore had the right to sell them. The matter was finally carried to the United States supreme court where about a year ago it was held that the state had no right to sell the lands.

ORLANDO IS GIVEN CONFIDENCE VOTE IN PARLIAMENT

In efforts to find a way to conciliation, I was anxious not to delay peace and to avoid compromising the union of the allied peoples, even by a mere appearance of disagreement. It was continuing patiently to seek an adjustment of the situation and was discussing the subject with the British premier when the presidential message appeared.

This new fact seemed to the Italian delegation of enormous gravity as it made public a dissemination which until then, although deep, was confined inside the conference. Beside making statements addressed to the senate and to the people in general and therefore to the Italian people, the full authority and therefore the prestige of the Italian delegation was doubted just in the grave and decisive hour when it was most needed.

Question Up To Entente.

Rome, April 30.—Rome newspapers, in commenting on Premier Orlando's speech, declare now that the Italian people and parliament have voiced their solidarity with the government, it remains only for the entente to revise its decision regarding the Adriatic. President Wilson appealed to the Italian people and now they have given their answer and that it is bound to have its effect on President Wilson's attitude.

The Corriere d'Italia sees in the demonstration in the chamber of deputies, an indication that it is the will of Italy to help in bringing about a prompt peace and that she is ready to make reasonable sacrifices to promote it.

The press is unanimous in praising what it refers to as the spirit of July 1918, the spirit of the peace conference.

French See Conciliation.

Paris, April 30.—The French press in commenting on the speech of Premier Orlando before the Italian parliament, finds a spirit of conciliation marking the address. As a result the newspapers express the conviction that a resumption of the conference over the Italian question will be possible, and that ground for a satisfactory understanding may be found. Italy, it is pointed out, obviously intends to give Premier Orlando a free hand in dealing with her interests.

Railroad Man Here.

J. A. McDonald, superintendent of the St. Paul railroad, was in the city yesterday and met with the street committee of the city council relative to the proposed paving that will affect property owned by the railroad company. The streets to be paved that will be paid for by the company are Cathin street from East Fulton to Lawton street, Lawton street from Cathin street to Main street, Henry street from West Fulton to depot; and the crossing at West Fulton street. Mr. McDonald also took up the matter of paving the manner in which the city handled the paving situation and was pleased to note that his company was receiving the same treatment that any other property owner in the city was receiving. When he left the city he stated that he would recommend that the improvements be made as laid out by the city.

ADVERTISING BOOM TO LUMBER BUSINESS IS NORTHERN VERDICT

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Milwaukee, Wis., April 30.—Success of newspaper advertising of lumber, a boom in the export conditions of northern hardwoods, and a decision to leave woods wage conditions unchanged were the chief features of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers' association convention today. Market conditions were outlined by chairman Alfred Klas of the bureau of statistics, showing an increased demand, and a decreased supply of lumber in reports on market conditions, and the log input of the past winter.

That England is calling for American lumber was the report made by Roy H. Jones, Appleton, special investigator for the association, sent to France and England to investigate the problem of the export market.

A report by M. P. McCullough, Schofield, on market promotion, provided a series of tributes to newspaper advertising.

The White Cedar Shingle Manufacturers Association of which E. A. Hammar of Chassell, Mich., is president, meeting with the hemlock men, decided to add newspaper advertising campaign to their promotion, on the lines of the hemlock campaign of utilization of the home newspapers by the home retailer.

A. L. Osborn reported on railroad rate problems.

Take Care of Your Spine

Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments eliminate the cause of Disease by releasing the pressure upon the nerves thereby restoring the normal flow of mental impulses to the organ affected. Normal function is restored and your Health is restored. Only in recent years has the Scientific World recognized the importance which the spine with its vertebrae (small bones) and nerves plays in the physical ills of mankind. It is now a well known and proven fact that in all disease there is a corresponding causative factor in the spine and CHIROPRACTIC the new Drugless Health Science is producing marvelous results in restoring Health in both chronic and acute cases. He leaves no smoke in his wake, he merely adjusts the vertebra that is out of place and does not cause any untoward reaction. Even if he did no good he could do no harm. ## PRESENT PRICES.

One of the problems which arouses
the interest of people these days, perhaps more than any other, is readjustment of prices. It appears to be the desire of every man and woman to get as many shants at the question as possible. Here is a discussion published in "Contracting," a semi-monthly periodical devoted to the interests of contractors and builders.
"It is difficult for an individual and much more so for a whole nation to adjust itself promptly to radical differences in every day conditions that have changed over night. Most of us, remembering the good old times and prices before the war, measure present costs by the depreciated dollar, and hope and wait in vain for the return of low prices and the rehabilitation of the dollar.

"A moment's thought should convince us that the dream is hopeless,
the whole world must share in the infinite destruction of life and property destroyed by the war. These losses must be made good and for a long period of time harder work, better management, greater efficiency and higher prices are inevitable. Besides, the great political and social changes cannot be overlooked nor that a different plane of living and working has been established and cannot be overthrown. Therefore we must accept high prices and will have to pay them whether they are willing or not; putting off the evil day only increases the loss.

"It is like a big debt, the interest of which is accumulating continually until we commence paying the obligation, that is until we begin extensive construction and reconstruction, production and improvements. What is more, we in America must have the pioneering advantage of ingenuity and inventiveness that will enable us to improve methods and efficiency so that we can increase quality and output enough to compensate for high unit cost. Already employers of labor say that conditions have measurably improved in the abundance of good labor and its willingness to work continuously and very much more faithfully and efficiently than during the war.

"An important beginning in the reduction of material costs has been made by the United States Steel company, and other large producers will follow suit. Manufacturers and dealers are prepared to do the same and to publicly announce fixed prices for a given period. It is vitally important to understand and believe this condition and to encourage owners, financiers, promoters, engineers, architects, public officials and all others responsible for construction investments that costs are substantially stable already, no material reduction is in sight or likely to arrive and that there are abundance of labor, material, equipment, ready and anxious to work. It follows that those who first commence construction will be in much the most advantageous position, will complete their work at a lower cost and will have the great advantage of early use. There is now little lacking except decision, courage and understanding of the situation for an immediate start and continued increase of enormous construction prosperity."

IN AN AIRSHIP.
Gladly the ground sank from me ere
I knew;
My heart leaped up as though breaking earth's last bond;
The trees in huge bouquets a moment
swayed
Like rushes round a pond.
Busy within their pigmy colonies
Below I saw the toiling human ants,
Then they were gone—
I knew when they came
Our dreams; they dwell where sun
rays wink and glance
Among the rose-hued clouds, which great
In fragments as soft breezes eastward
play;
And sailing by, I saw dim forms that knelt.
Before an altar like pale runs in gray;
It was a bird—on pinions wide I swept Upward, forever upward still I kept;
I felt no earthly fetter binding me,
For I, at last, was free.
—Doris Kenyon.

WHY NOT SPEED UP?
With the announcement that a superintendent will be selected to carry on the work of erecting homes
by the Janesville Housing corporation comes encouragement to those who know the immediate needs of those who are seeking places to live.
Hundreds of men and women have come into Janesville in the last few weeks to make their future homes,
but they have been unable to find habitations.
The weather has permitted construction work and a great deal could have been accomplished in the last few days if the machinery of the housing corporation could be set in motion. The officials of the Samsen Tractor company have announced that it will not be long only those workmen that can be provided with suitable housing. However, there is no doubt that the concern is anxious to get the first unit to working at full capacity
as soon as possible.
The private concern which is erecting houses in the east part of the city has made rapid progress and already bases one house taking the shape of a home and basements for other's well
started.
At the time the stock of the Janesville Housing corporation was subscribed, it was understood that the actual work of construction would go forward without delay so that those who needed homes could be provided with them.
It is hoped that the housing corporation will begin turning its wheels
of action within a few days.

LABOR AND BOLSHIEVISM.
When the labor unions elected Ole Hansen mayor of Seattle they made no mistake. He is one of the best friends they ever had and the time will come, despite the strikes of the bolshievists, when every intelligent workman will recognize this fact.
Hansen is fighting bolshievism with both fists and is giving no quarter. It is true that bolshievism is a labor movement in Russia and that most of what little strength it has in this country has been recruited from the ranks of labor. But intelligent American labor leaders are fighting it.
Hansen is helping them. In his Victory Liberty loan speeches he is telling the workmen that bolshievism in America, whenever it rears its ugly

head, must be ruthlessly stamped out.
Why? It points to Russia, of course as the horrible example. What has bolshievism gained for Russia? It has succeeded in destroying all those who by natural ability and training were fitted to bring back to life the nation's dying industries. But is this a gain or an appalling, irreparable loss? Factories are closed, transportation is paralyzed, men, women and children are dying by hundreds of thousands. Simply because Lenin says the laboring men alone must get the country back on its feet, and they have not been trained for so tremendous a task. Russia was not in the war last year. Russia is a land which can easily produce several times as much food as it needs. But Russia is starving and will continue to starve just so long as the bolshie-vistic reign persists.
The man who points this out at every opportunity is the real friend of labor. Yet some of the Seattle union have turned against Hansen. Doubtless they will live to see and regret their mistake. For the bolshievistic pestilence will soon have run its course and in the next time it will come to be universally recognized as the most deadly foe the cause of labor ever had.

The Thirty-second division is due to arrive in New York next Sunday or Monday. It is probable that many Janesville and Rock county boys will return, although the original Company 31 is broken up. However, we should give these brave heroes who have made such a glorious record for the state and for this city a rousing welcome.

The legislature will not make itself
very popular with the majority of the people of the state by advocating the repeal of the daylight saving law.
The majority of the people live in the cities and the extra hour of daylight
means a great deal to them.

The assembly has passed a resolution asking congress to repeal the daylight saving bill. Judging from the slowness the lower house proceeds with its work, it should take advantage of as long working hours as possible.

THE HAPPY HOME.
Put laughter into the homes of men,
And joy at the little gate,
And there'll be no room for the creeds
of gloom
And never a chance for hate.
For a man goes wrong when his children weep.
And their song is a plaintive whine,
But life's worth while, when the babies smile—
Then all that he sees is fine.

Put comfort into the homes of men,
And there'll be no room for rage,
Let laughter ring and the kettle sing
The song of a happy day.
And never a curse shall cross the lips
Of the humblest toiler here—
And never a hand shall hurl a brand
At the things which we hold dear.

Take hunger out of the lives of men
And fill up the cupboards bare,
Let the fathers know that their children are
In such a place as fit to wear.
Let the mothers smile as they toil by day
And the envy and rage shall cease,
For a man thinks right when his heart is light
And his home is rich with peace.

The man that dwells on a patch of ground
Where his children romp and play
May leave them there, untouched by care
And sing at his work all day,
And never a vicious thought he'll think.
Nor a deed of malice do,
For life's worth while if his loved ones smile,
And the flag will find him true.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, April 30, 1879.—Mr. Kimball, Mr. Bennett, and others interested in the Tower
City Band went to Geneva yesterday to look over the grounds there. They reported everything in fine shape and everything ready for this summer. H.
S. Woodruff and C. Bassett are talking of building cottages there this summer.

John Hogan who is one of the overseers in the industrial school at Waukesha, arrived here yesterday for a week's stay in the city. He has increased his weight since he was here
before and looks hale and hearty.

Henry A. Tice is home again from Appleton for a few days. He is a senior in Lawrence University, and has come to attend the intercollegiate athletic contests at Beloit next Friday night, he being president of that association.

Nash and Lee, the grocers are to occupy their old stand, corner of Jackson and Milwaukee streets, as soon as the new building is completed which will be within 30 or 60 days. They will then occupy Mr. Grubb's store on Jackson street.

On and after today the gas consumers of Janesville will be charged only $2.80 per thousand feet. There was no grumbling about the price previously charged and this unrelieved for reduction brings light down to lower than any other city of this size.

A suit has commenced which promises to be of more than usual interest.
The plaintiff is Oscar F. Collins of Magnolia, Rock county and the defendant is Chester Gifford of Juda, Green county.

The plaintiff charges Mr. Gifford with having filled the stomachs of beef cattle with salt water and corn to increase their weight, thus defrauding him in the sale. The trial of this case will be watched eagerly by those who are handling stock.

agency for carrying out the government's policies, and as purchasing agency of the American Relief association.

Mr. Barnes is a native of Arkansas but spent his childhood at Washington. He has lived in Danbury most of his life. He has been identified with the grain industry since early manhood. He and his associates in the grain corporation were all large purchasers and exporters of foodstuffs
before the war, and all are volunteer workers. Mr. Barnes' career with the government began when Mr. Hoover made him head of the wheat division
of the food administration.

He achieved signal success as an executive at the head of the grain corporation. When he entered on the work, there was a large shortage of wheat from the 1917 crop, but when the crop was finally distributed, there was practically none left, yet no part of the country had suffered for lack of bread. In addition, about 140,000 bushels had been exported to the army and the allied countries, saved
by the American people from their own tables.

GOV. EDGE ADDRESSES
NATIONAL C. OF C.

St. Louis, Mo., April 30.—Business uncertainties will be swept aside
the moment the government substitutes
a stimulating propaganda for its present policy of hesitancy, Governor Edge of New Jersey declared in an address today before the United States Chamber of Commerce.

To prove that business can be carried on profitably at prevailing prices
so long as they are high only in a comparative way, the government should start building roads, developing waterways and increasing railway facilities, the speaker said.

Other speakers included William C.
Redfield, secretary of commerce, and Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States shipping board.
America's part in the reconstruction of France and trade relations between the two nations during the post-war period were outlined by Maurice Cas-sagne, head of the French service in the United States. Purchase of French commodities by the United States to balance expenditures of France in this country for materials to restore her devastated regions, M. Cassagne declared, was of vital importance. Long term credits for material purchased by France and investment by American financial interests in French government and industrial securities are other means suggested to bring about the proper trade relations.

ANNUAL LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS PROPOSED

Madison, April 29.—Annual sessions of the legislature, the first session to be for the introduction of bills and the second session to be for the consideration of those measures is proposed by Assemblyman W. B. Chilson, Merril.

Assemblyman Chilson has finished the draft of his bill for modification of the primary law in Wisconsin. Under the provisions of the Chilson bill

the primary is not molested, except that the bill provides for a convention to be composed of delegates selected in county conventions which is composed of delegates from local caucuses.
The state convention would recommend candidates to the electorate. Mr.
Chilson claims that in recent years
these conventions have been held without the formality of law to back them up and that under this bill the conventions would be recognized as a legal entity.

Sewer-Water Main Cost Figures Take Much Time

Figuring assessments of benefits and damages consequent to the proposed laying of water and sanitary sewer pipes is the big work in the office of City Engineer C. V. Kerch just at present. Close to 10 miles of excavation work and laying of mains will be required by the city this season and the determining of assessments to property owners is being rushed to permit an early starting of the work.

Part First Abutment for Jackson St. Bridge

Work on the Jackson street bridge is well under way, excavation for one of the abutments having been started several days ago. A security of labor and inclement weather delayed the laying of the big water main under the river on the bridge site but this work has progressed far enough to be out of the way of the bridge builders.

In the original declamation contest held this morning at the high school, Earl Yahn, junior, took first place, while Andrew Ewing, junior, won second. By his winning, Yahn will have the possession of the Lovejoy medal for one year.

Yahn's declamation, "The Passing of the Open Saloon," was well written and delivered in a forceful manner. Commenting on the passing of the saloon, he told of the great work done by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of which Frances Willard, a former Janesville girl, was the first president. Yahn's declamation was one of the best ever given in the original contest and received much applause from the student body.

Andrew Ewing with his "You Part and I Have" made a stirring appeal for the success of the Victory Loan. His declamation, while somewhat shorter than Yahn's was well written and given.

MOVIE FANS SEND IN BUSHELS OF PROTESTS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE].
Madison, April 30.—More than a bushel basket of remonstrances from movie fans from all over the state have been received in the assembly against the Oakes bill providing for a state censorship over all moving picture films, while a great many petitions favoring the passage of the bill have been received from women's clubs and other civic organizations.

The bill will be given a hearing before the assembly state affairs committee Thursday afternoon. The general impression among the legislators appears to be that there is no call for such a measure, that the moving picture business as conducted in Wisconsin is on a high plane and that it does not require state regulation.

The bill proposed to create a board of censors composed of three members at a salary of $2,500 per year each, who are to view and pass upon all films, reels, etc., before they may be shown to the general public.

MOVING PICTURE FUNNIES

Cut out the pictures on all four sides. Then carefully fold dotted line 2 and so on. Fold each section underneath accurately. When completed turn over and you'll find a surprising result. Save the pictures.

A CHANCE TO LIVE

HAPPINESS.

It was a wonderful adventure for Annie to go back with Aunt Maggie to spend the night. It usually happened on Saturdays, because Aunt Maggie didn't have to "go to the office" next day. The pen-writer was usually called to play with Annie in the room, and a never-failing bag of gumdrops or chocolate creams tucked in a drawer of the desk.

This desk of Aunt Maggie was in a room of treasure. It was no spindly wackling of a desk like the one in the "parlor" at Edith Hutton's house, with a turn-up front and a wobble to it. The desk was a solid piece of wood, and the whole thing wobbled when you touched it. And there was an inkwell made of a star's foot with the fur on, that never bled ink in it. And the pen-writer was usually called to play with Annie in the room, and a never-failing bag of gumdrops or chocolate creams tucked in a drawer of the desk.

No, Aunt Maggie's desk was square and flat. There was a tin of drawers down one side that mysteriously locked themselves when you closed something at the top. If the drawers were stacks of clean, white paper and envelopes. And some sheets of very thick black paper, with one side glossy, and when you put it between the white sheets it made a marvelous copy of whatever you wrote on the white.

But the crowning joy of all was what sat on top of the desk and went down inside it out of sight when the desk shut. Aunt Maggie had that for two years before she let one touch it, but herself. She had bought it "at too much sacrifice" to have anything happen to it. It was a beautiful thing, and she sat by the hour watching her work at it with flying fingers, while a thing clicked and clattered and printed out pages and pages of neat stuff that she wrote.

Even when Aunt Maggie was not writing on the wonderful machine, Annie liked to look at her. Annie thought Aunt Maggie's Bailey must be years and years younger than her.

sister, who was Annie's mother. She was so slim and neat-looking. Her hair was never in loose locks. Her shirtwaists were never mussed or damp under the arms and across the back. She never had to wash and iron clothes and cook. Her boots never lacked buttons. She had nice gloves—and a pair of gloves. Annie's mother had only one pair of gloves, and they were worn and baggy and out at the tips. Aunt Maggie never signed and said she was "so tired she could just die," as Annie's mother often did.

As a matter of fact, Annie's Aunt Margaret Bailey was well past 30, only a few years younger than Mrs. Hargan. But there were plenty of reasons for her looking younger.

THE ROAD TO RICHES.

"Aunt Maggie," began Annie, into whose mind a gradual connection was being made between the singleness and prosperity of her aunt, and the marriedness and want of money of her mother, "Aunt Maggie, why are you rich and why isn't mother?"

"I'm not rich, dearie"—far from it," said Aunt Maggie. "I work mighty hard for what I get." "But you get money for it. Mother works for it. Why doesn't she get money for it?"

Aunt Maggie didn't answer for a minute. She was looking far off. She had big blue eyes, and a beautiful straight nose that Annie envied with all her soul, and a sweet mouth that smiled but rarely laughed. "Being married and having a home and a family," she answered, slowly, "more to herself, it seemed, than to Annie. It's one of the fine things. Maybe it's the best thing. But it doesn't always seem to pay you back for what you put into it." Then, bringing her eyes down to small Annie—"your mother gets paid in other ways than money, dearie. You and your father love her. And when the baby's big enough, she'll love her too. That's her pay."

SMARTNESS LIES IN CLEVER VEST

By ELOISE.

No tall woman will ever need to look ungraceful because of her height if she chooses the proper kind of costume. This one of soft satin has been especially designed for the tall, slender beauties who are slender. The Russian blouse which reaches almost to the knees preserves the slender lines, at the same time relieving the extreme long lines which would otherwise be plain. The skirt is very light and slightly draped with a short slit in the back to aid walking.

Perhaps the secret of the smartness of this gown is not in its draping, but in the cleverly designed vest of cream val lace and georgette over pink satin. Tiny ruffles trim the vest which is made with an apron and a band of blue gros grain ribbon forms a narrow girdle which ties at the left side and has two long streamers. The long tight sleeves are cut kimono style and the collar is a long scale kind.

DESSERTS.

Jellied Rice and Orange With Currant Sauce—One-half cup of raisins, one-half cup of currants (one cup orange juice), one-half cup sugar, one level teaspoon granulated gelatin.
Wash and boil the rice. Dust with salt as usual. Save two cups of the rice stock and put it back to boil. Soak the gelatin in one tablespoon cold water ten minutes; dissolve in hot rice stock; when dissolved add the sugar and orange juice and a very little grated orange rind. Pour over the cold boiled rice, mix well. Put into mold or bowl which has been rinsed with cold water, turn out in glass bowl and pour the sauce around. The juice of one-half lemon will add to the jellied rice.
Sauce: Take two tablespoons currant or red jelly, dissolve in one-half cup of water; put on to boil; add one teaspoon cornstarch, wet with cold water; boil one minute. When cold pour around the mold.

Escaloped Raisins With Apples—One cup seeded raisins, one and one-quarter cups brown sugar or syrup, one quart apples, pared and quartered, one quarter teaspoon salt, one-quarter cup bread crumbs or one crumb, one teaspoon butter, substitute.
Brush bake dish or casserole with butter, put in half the raisins, cover with half the apples. Dust with salt. Add the balance of raisins, then apples; sprinkle with a little salt; cover with sugar, the water and the crumbs over the top and cover. Place in moderate oven and bake and bake 30 minutes; then remove cover and bake 15 minutes, or until brown. This is best served cold. It can be served from dish in which it is baked or in ice cream glasses with whipped cream.

Watermelon Jelly Cake—One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, one and one-half cups flour, one-half cup of sweet milk, one-half cup of baking powder, whites of four eggs. Bake in two layers.
For third layer: Take two tablespoons gelatin dissolved in five tablespoons of hot water, two cups of confectionery sugar, Flavor with vanilla and color a rich watermelon pink. Beat one-half hour. If too stiff thin with hot water. Pour the mixture into a greased pan same size as used for cake; set on ice to cool. When partially set, drop in a handful of raisins or watermelon seeds, with occasionally a small blanched almond, for white or unripe seeds. When perfectly cold put between other two layers, and put together with icing.

For Tapioca Pudding—Put two-thirds cup minute tapioca into three cups boiling water; boil rapidly for five minutes. Then add one and one-half cups brown sugar, one-half pound dried figs and one teaspoon vanilla. Boil in double boiler until clear. Serve with whipped cream.

Omelet With Meat or Vegetables—Fold in remnants of meat, fish or omelet, when making a plain omelet. Serve with white or tomato sauce.

Rich in Misfortunes.

At the end of life a man finds himself rich, not so much by his fortune as by his misfortunes. The Persians had a vase of glass, when empty was colorless, but when filled with wine flashed forth many rare pictures. So a bosom empty of a heart of pain makes a lusterless life, but a bosom in which a heart bleeds reveals hidden virtues.—Tilton.

SIDE TALKS

—By—
RUTH CAMERON

How To Tell the Salt of the Earth. There is a certain very interesting fact, which I have gradually come to observe, about the way in which people's class standards vary, and the condition which causes the variation. I am going to tell you some of the class standards which I have heard expressed, and then, I think, you will be able to deduce the fact for yourself.

She Says Family Is All That Counts. I have a friend who, though poor, comes from a very fine old family. When this woman is dividing her acquaintances into sheep and goats, she makes the sort of family from which they come the criterion by which she separates them. Many people whom she puts in among the goats are wealthy and many whom are graciously herded among the sheep are poor.

Again, I know a woman who makes edgewise the same qua non of desirability. Family doesn't count with her nor wealth, but how much education people have. Strangely enough, this woman is one of the most highly educated women I know. She holds not only an A. B., an A. M., and a Ph. D. from colleges in this country, but she also studied in the Sorbonne.

He Says Of Genius. I have a friend who declares that the only aristocracy in the world is the aristocracy of genius. Incidentally I happened to know that this man strongly suspects himself of being a genius.

Near me lives a man who is a fine specimen of the hard working, reasonably successful business man of the middle class. He has neither genius family nor education. And he says that the middle class are without question the salt of the earth. The lower classes (he means in a financial sense) are apt to lack force or else they wouldn't be where they are, and the upper classes have gone to seed. The class that counts is the middle class.

Can You Guess Their Criterion. I might go on and tell of the brainy man who makes pure brains his criterion, and the well bred woman who says breeding is the only thing that counts, but why waste your time with a multiplicity of examples. I am sure you have long since guessed what is the factor by which many people select their most desirable class.

And doesn't the naive with which people indulge in this form of self praise, with which they calmly admit that the distinction (or lack of it) which they happen to possess is the only one really worth possessing, apparently quite without realizing how it sounds, remind you of the habits of a certain well known bird of the desert.

The Daily Novelette

THE KNIGHT AND THE ARMOR.

The clatter-clatter of hoofs echoed, re-echoed and re-echoed (see Dublin Spasms' "Iron Kings on Stone Courtyards in the Medieval Ages") on the flagstones of the castle courtyard.

With fitting thought and fluttering breath, the fair Princess Griselda peeped out of the window of her boudoir in the left turret of the castle and saw her lover, the handsome knight Orloffo. He was in glittering silver armor and carried a lance with a banner of gadzook silk made by her own far famed hands.

Orloffo had just returned from a victorious battle with the Baron of Bickwick Castle, and his nobles and peasants. "Sdeath! What a figure of a knight, sitting astride his horse in rattling armor!"

Griselda pulled in her head and awaited with hand on heart, the coming of her lordly lover. Several minutes later (see "The Sun-dial in the Castle Tower" by Colin Igo) the sound of thumping and rattling tin on stone, tumpety-tump-tink-tump, and loud cries were heard. "Thousand devils! What's that?"

"Old's bodikins! 'Twas the Count Orloffo tumbling down the stone steps, eight at a time, and he never stopped rolling until he kerplashed into the muddy moat. (The drawbridge was up.)"

When the count was fished out of the water he was terribly dented up and could only murmur incoherently—"Rightly!"

"I thought he was a can o' corn," blubbered the cook, "and I tried to open him up!"

And then the Princess Griselda furiously did grab that can-opener and would have done the cook mortal injury, but that Orloffo took her in his metallic arms.

Never Quite Satisfied. It doesn't make any difference what a woman gets, there is always something a little more expensive she wishes she could have had.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a saleswoman twenty-six years of age, unmarried, although I have had many chances to marry.

My sister, who is two years younger than I am, married and has two children. Her husband has never been kind or true to her. After she had been married six months he left her, and she came home to me. To take care of her. My mother is living, but an invalid, and can do nothing toward the support of the home.

After sister's baby was born her husband came back to her and begged her to return to him. He did not want the baby and so she left it with mother and me. I love children and was very glad to keep the little thing.

Then the same thing happened over again. Sister's husband deserted her and she came home again. After her second baby was born, she was taken sick and we were badly in need of money. Sister went to work and although she did not make much money her earnings helped. Then her husband came back and she went to him, leaving the two children with us and no money to take care of them. I went back to work before I was able and have been working ever since.

Now I have had a pitiful letter from my sister. She has been deserted again and is afraid to come home. I am so discouraged that I don't know what to do. I wrote her that if she would divorce her husband so that she would be free from him, I would help her out. She refuses to do this because she says they love each other and she cannot give him up.

I am sick, I worry so much. There is a very fine man who wants to marry me, but I cannot marry if I ask him to bear all my burdens. Every cent I earn is badly needed at home, even if sister does not come back.

Can you give me any advice that will give me courage? I think sometimes that I will go insane.

M. G. H.

First of all see that the father of the children supports them. Report of the children support court. They will search for the man and when they find him compel him to contribute to the support of his children. You have borne the burdens for your sister long enough, hard as it may seem to desert her now. Great suffering may show her the seriousness of the thing she is doing. She is shirking responsibility herself and throwing the entire burden on someone else.

If the father of the children furnishes money for their support and your sister earns money to take care of herself, your burden will be lightened considerably. It seems a pity that you should sacrifice your whole life for others. If you love the man and he wants you to marry him, knowing all the trouble you have to bear, I think you should do so. It is not uncommon for a girl to marry when she has a dependent mother. You make others work for you. Let your sister try her own wings and she will learn to fly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is there any other way to take money off the face besides using an electric needle? Is there any kind of medicine to put on them to make them dry up? I would like to know, because I have a couple on my face and although everybody tells me they are not noticeable the knowledge that they are there makes me self-conscious.

ANNOYINGLY WAITING.

The electric needle is a safe way of removing moles while no other method is. Cancers sometimes develop if moles are trifled with. Moles are not unattractive and in some cases add to character of the face. If I were you, I would follow the advice of your friends and decide that they are not noticeable.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

DIET OF THE NURSING MOTHER.

The simple truth is that a nursing mother should avoid nothing whatever which she ordinarily eats, and she should especially include in her diet a generous quantity of all green vegetables and relishes and fruits she can obtain in the market. She needs such food not only for her own nutrition but also for the proper nutrition of her baby.

The nursing mother should drink each day at least a quart of fresh milk, preferably raw (unpasteurized), but pasteurized if clean raw milk is not available. This may be taken as a substitute for or in addition to tea or coffee at regular meals, and as between-meals snack. It is not because milk is more nourishing than other staple foods, nor because it increases the amount or quality of milk secreted by the mammary glands in ample because fresh milk contains in ample quantity the fat-soluble essential known as vitamin. This vitamin is picked up from the mother's blood and passed into the milk. It is absolutely essential for the normal nutrition and growth of a baby. It can be obtained in sufficient quantity only from milk, butter, cheese, egg yolk, kidney, liver fat, chicken liver and rich fat-soluble vitamins.

A nursing mother may and should eat everything that has previously been found to agree. She should avoid alcoholic beverages, ale, porter, wine, so-called malt liquors, beer, because these contain practically no real nutrition and the effect of alcohol is to diminish the mother's capacity to nurse her baby. She should avoid highly spiced or seasoned dishes of all kinds. She should not avoid onions, cabbage, or in fact any wholesome vegetable. Many doctors have opined that the diet will effect the taste or quality of the milk secreted by the breasts.

For successful nursing—and the breast fed baby or even the baby fed only in part on the breast always has it over the artificially fed baby like a tent—it is vitally important that the mother should have two sides: first, sufficient rest, and second, sufficient sleep. The rest she must obtain by adopting at the outset and rigidly adhering to a regular schedule of nursing by the clock. The oxygen she must absorb by getting out every day in the year, rain or shine, snow or glow, for her two miles on the hoof, and if she wants a happy, healthy, contented baby she will push the baby along with her every day.

GREEN FANCY

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

Author of "Graustark," "The Hollow of Her Hand," "The Prince of Graustark," Etc.

"The top of the morning to ye. You remember Mr. Loeb, don't you? Mr. Curtis' secretary. Mr. Loeb is leaving us for a few days on business. Good morning, Mr. Bonaface," he called out to Putnam Jones who approached at that juncture. "We are sadly in want of gasoline."

Barnes caught the look that the Irishman shot at him out of the corner of his eye.

"Perhaps you'd better see that the scoundrels don't give us short measure, Mr. Loeb," said O'Dowd. Loeb hesitated for a second, and then, evidently in obedience to a command from the speaker's eye, moved off to where Peter was opening the intake.

O'Dowd lowered his voice. "Barnes, I let you off last night, and I let her off as well. In return, I ask you to hold your tongue until the man down there gets a fair start. A day's start and—"

"Are you in danger, too, O'Dowd?" "To be sure—but I love it. I can always squirm out of tight places."

"I would not deliberately put you in jeopardy, O'Dowd."

"See here, I am going back to that house, up yonder. There is still work for me there. What I am after now is to get him on the train at Hornville. I'll be here again at four o'clock, on my word of honor. Trust me, Barnes."

"Do you mean to say that you are coming back here to run the risk of being—"

"We've had word that the government has men on the way. Why, hang it all, Barnes, don't you know who it was that engineered that whole business last night?"

Barnes smiled. "I do. He is a secret agent from the embassy."

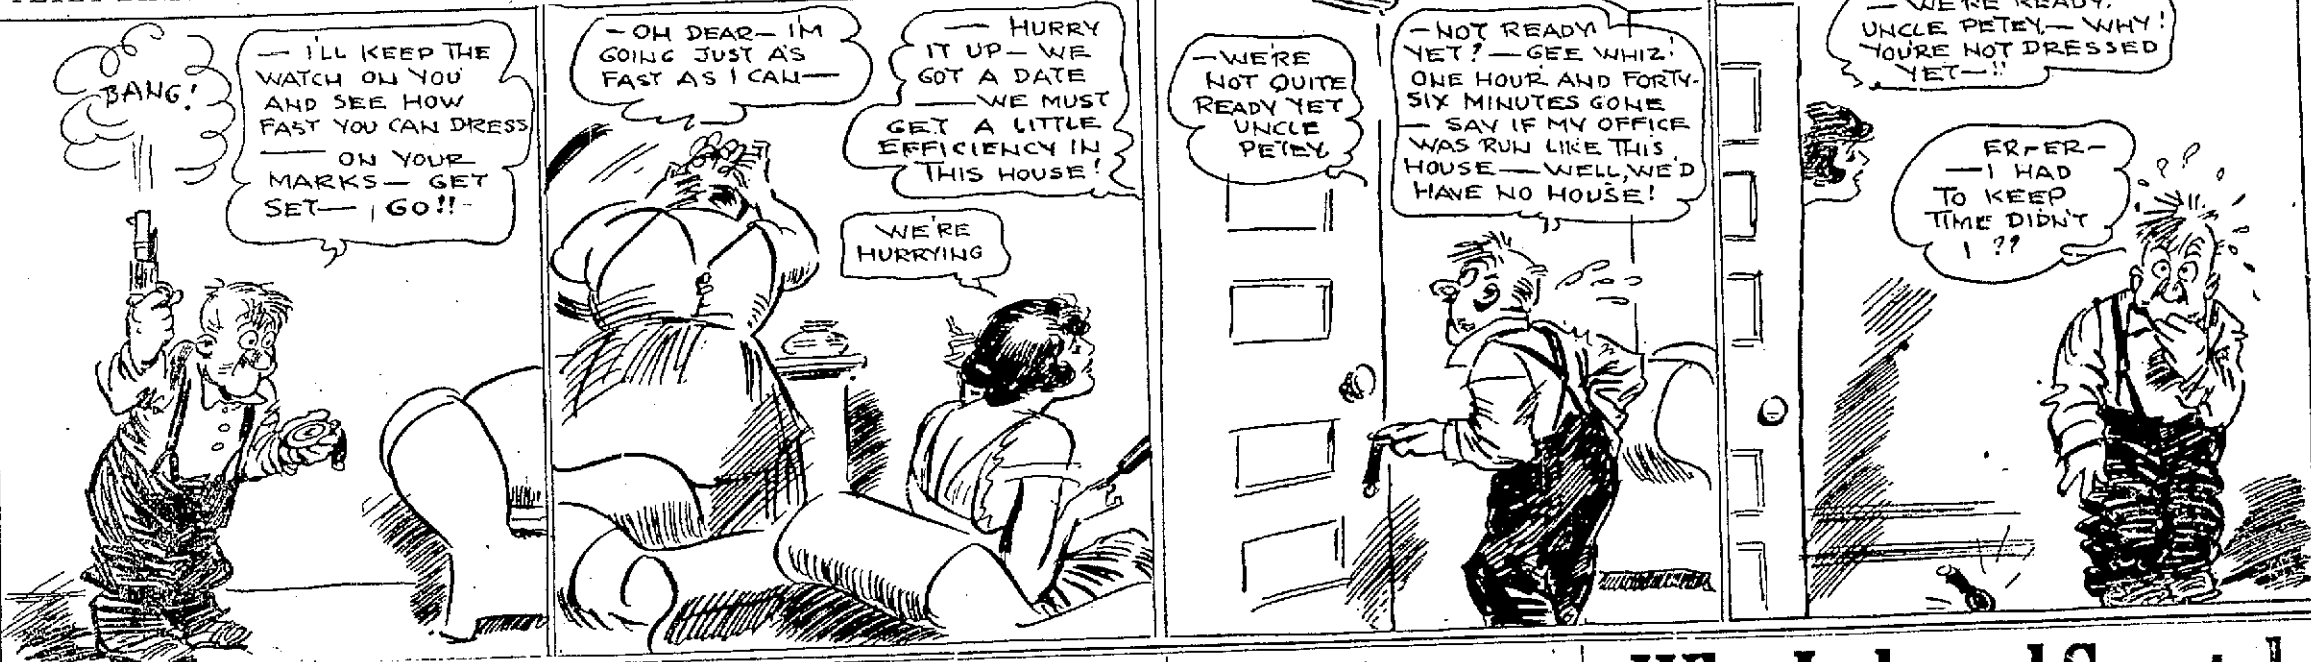

"Secret grumpy?" almost shouted O'Dowd. "He is the slickest, cleverest crook that ever drew the breath of life. And he's got away with the jewels, for which you can whistle in vain, I'm thinking."

"For heaven's sake, O'Dowd," began Barnes, his blood like ice in his veins.

"But don't take my word for it. Ask her—upstairs there, God bless her—ask her if she knows Chester Nalmsmith. She'll tell you, my bucko. He's been standing guard outside her window for the past three nights."

"Now I know you are mistaken," cried Barnes, a wave of relief surging over him. "He has been in this tav-

CHAPTER XVI.

The First Wayfarer Visits a Shrine, Confesses, and Takes an Oath.

How was he to find the courage to impart the appalling news to her? He was now convinced beyond all doubt that the so-called Sprouse had made off with the priceless treasure and that only a miracle could bring about its recovery. He realized to what extent he had been shaped into a tool to be used by the master craftsman. He saw through the whole Machiavellian scheme, and he was also now morally certain that Sprouse would have sacrificed him without the slightest hesitation.

In the event that anything went wrong with their enterprise, the man would have shot him dead and earned the gratitude and commendation of his associates! He would have been glorified and not crucified by his friends.

With a heavy heart he mounted the stairs. At the top he paused to deliberate. Would it not be better to keep her in ignorance? What was to be gained by revealing to her the— But Miss Thackeray was luring him on to destruction. She stood outside the door and beckoned. Then she closed the door from the outside, and Barnes was alone with the cousin of kings and queens and princes.

"I feared you had deserted me," she said, holding out her hand to him as he strode across the room.

"I saw no occasion to disturb your rest," he murmured.

"I have been sleeping," she said, looking at him searchingly. "Where is Mr. Loeb going, Mr. Barnes?"

"O'Dowd says he is to be gone for a few days on business," he equivocated. "He will not return," she said quietly. "He is a coward at heart. Oh, I know him well," she went on, scorn in her voice.

"Was I wrong in not trying to stop him?" he asked.

"No," she said, but he caught the dubious note in her voice. "It is just as well, perhaps, that he should disappear. His flight today spurs—but we are more interested in the man Sprouse. Has he returned?"

"No, Miss Cameron," said he ruefully. And then, without a single reservation, he laid bare the story of Sprouse's defection. When he inquired if she had heard of the man known as Chester Nalmsmith, she confirmed his worst fear by describing him as the guard who watched beneath her window. He was known to her as a thief of international fame.

"You were no match for Chester Nalmsmith. Do not look so glum. The shrewdest police officers in Europe have never been able to cope with him. Why should you despair?"

He sprang to his feet. "By God, he hasn't got away with it yet," he grated. "I will run this scoundrel down if I have to devote the remainder of my life to the task."

She sighed. "Alas, I fear that I shall have to tell you a little more about this wonderful man you know as Sprouse. Six months ago the friends and supporters of the legitimate successor to my country's throne consummated a plan whereby the crown jewels and certain documents of state were surreptitiously removed from the palace vaults. Instead of depositing the treasure in Paris, it was sent to this country in charge of a group of men whose fealty could not be questioned. The man you know as Loeb is in reality my cousin. I have known him all my life. He is the youngest brother of the pretender to the throne, and a cousin of the prince who is held prisoner by the Austrians. This prince has a brother also, and it was to him that I was supposed to deliver the jewels. I traveled from New York, but not alone as you may suspect. I was carefully protected from the time I left my hotel there until—well, until I arrived in Boston."

"While there I received a secret message from friends in Canada directing me to go to Spanish Falls, where I would be met and conducted by Prince Sebastian himself to the place called Green Fancy, which was near the Canadian border. A safe escort would be provided for us, and we would be on British soil within a few hours after our meeting. It is only necessary to add that when I arrived at Green Fancy I met Prince Ugo—and understood! I had carefully covered my tracks after leaving Boston. My real friends were, and still are, completely in the dark as to my movements, so skillfully was the trick managed."

"And now for Chester Nalmsmith. It was he who, acting for the misguided loyalists and recommended by certain young aristocrats who by virtue of their own dissipation had come to know him as a man of infinite resourcefulness and daring, planned and carried out the pillaging of the palace vaults. Almost under the noses of the foreign guards he succeeded in obtaining the jewels. No doubt he could have made off with them at that time, but he shrewdly preferred to have them brought to America by some one else. It would have been impossible for him to dispose of them in Europe. You see how cunning he is?"

"He was no doubt thwarted in his design to waylay me on the road from Spanish Falls by a singular occurrence in this tavern. He was attacked in his room here, overpowered, bound and gagged by two men. He knew the men. They were thieves as clever and as merciless as himself. They too were watching for me. I do not know how these men learned of my intention to come to Green Fancy."

Dinner Stories

"I was endeavoring," says the teacher of a night school in a country town, "to instill into the minds of certain of my discouraged pupils some notions of ambition."

"Do you know," I asked of a disreputable looking lad of nineteen,

"that every boy in this country has a chance to be president?"

"Is that so?" asked the boy, reflectively. Then he added, "Say teacher, I'll sell my chance for a quarter."

It was young Mrs. Robinson's first party, and she was suffering the usual terrors of the inexperienced hostess. However, the cook rose to the occasion splendidly, and, so far as the dinner itself was concerned, Mrs. Robinson was delighted.

The only fly in the ointment was Jane, the new parlor maid; she was slow, clumsy and her waiting was bad. But, in addition to these faults, she insisted on keeping her mouth open.

"This got so on Mrs. Robinson's nerves that at last she exclaimed: 'Jane, your mouth is wide open. Jane withdrew her gaze from the ceiling and said, looking down with a cheery smile: 'I know it, ma'am; I opened it myself!'"

The partners of a well known stock exchange house were having a dinner conference at an uptown hotel. One of them appeared worried during the progress of the meal, and finally he was queried as to the cause of his air of abstraction.

"I just happened to remember that I neglected to lock the safe before I left the office," he replied.

"Why worry?" said another member of the firm. "We are all here."

Why Itch and Scratch With Burning Eczema?

Genuine Relief If You Resort to Sand and Sensible Treatment

There is a very common misunderstanding of Eczema and the various other forms of skin eruptions and irritations that cause so much pain and discomfort. Because the surface of the skin is the scene of the attack, and seems almost ablaze with fiery, burning and itching, these disorders are mis-named skin diseases.

The truth is that they are not really skin diseases, and that is why nothing but disappointment follows their treatment with salves and lotions applied to the surface of the skin.

These irritations, eruptions, boils, pimples, etc., are caused by a disease germ in the blood, which breaks out through the skin, and as long as the germ is in the blood, no cure can come from ointments and lotions, even if you apply them to the surface by the ton.

The rational and sensible treatment is S. S. S., the reliable blood purifier, which promptly eradicates all disease germs from the blood. When you cleanse your blood of disease germs, the skin is promptly restored to its normal condition.

For more than half a century S. S. S. has been used with the greatest satisfaction for all manner of blood and skin disorders. This fine old remedy was first made by the Indians from medicinal roots and herbs of the forests.

S. S. S. is still made from the original formula, and it is guaranteed purely vegetable. It is one blood remedy that contains not a particle of potash, mercury or other mineral. There is no finer tonic or system-builder, and a thorough course of S. S. S. will build up the general health and give new vigor to the entire body.

BRAVE AMERICANS

Portraits of Medal Winners, Made at the Front by Official Portrait Painter of the A. E. F., JOSEPH CUMMINGS CHASE.

Corporal Whitney D. Sherman, 18th Co., 5th Regt. of Marines, 2d Division. Corporal Sherman is as good as they come. He was wounded in action at Belleau Wood and since he is a Marine, he calls the place, Bois-de-la-Brigade-de-Marine. He was one of those hurriedly dashing disregard of danger, making deadly use of his rifle and bayonet, displaying an astonishing skill at arms under murderous fire of the enemy machine guns. This in spite of being wounded in the leg, thus proving himself unshakable and setting an example to his fellows which they were not slow to follow. Later he was moved to a hospital, but rejoined his company in time to participate with continued gallantry in the last drive of the war.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

Well, we finished the last story just as the little red ant slipped off the tree and fell to the ground. And then the voice that had just asked Billy Bunny and Uncle Lucky to stop and play, spoke again: "Oh, please, come here and stay a while. I am lonely for a smile. Don't go away, but come, and play—Come and play a while." And then a little white pig, with a pink nose, ran out from behind a tree and stood up on his hind legs by the Lucky mobile. "Why are you so lonely," asked kind Uncle Lucky, for he felt very sorry for the little pig, you see. "Because the farmer sold all his pigs but me, and I ran away to the woods." "Let's take him with us," said Billy Bunny. So the little pig scrambled into the Lucky mobile and away they went, and by and by, not very long, they came to Uncle Lucky's house. And right there, weeding the flowerbeds, was the Old Red Rooster. "Open the barn door," said the old gentleman rabbit. "I've got somebody to live there." You see, Uncle Lucky hadn't used the barn for a long time, because he kept the Lucky mobile in the garage. And then the Old Red Rooster opened the barn door. "Now make yourself comfortable," said Uncle Lucky, and he kept the house and got you some supper. "What would you like to eat?" "A bowl of milk and ginger snaps," said the little pig. And if you have any corn cobs or cracked corn, I'd like them, too, for I'm as hungry as a bear. And then all of a sudden the old owl said, "Toot, toot," and Billy Bunny hopped the Lucky mobile home, and then the two little rabbits went into the house. And before very long Uncle Lucky came out with the little pig's supper, and then he made him a nice bed of straw to sleep on, and after that he locked the barn door and put the key in his waistcoat pocket. But, goodness me! I forgot all about the Old Red Rooster, and so Uncle Lucky, so he had to open the barn door and let Old Shanty in, for that's what they called the Old Red Rooster for short, instead of Chanticleer, you know. Well, by and by the two little rabbits went to bed, and Mrs. Moon came out and shone down on the old barn and the little white house until Mr. Happy Sun got out of bed in the morning.

HOW TO RAISE BABY CHICKS

Put this in the drinking water.

Most people lose half of every hatch and seem to expect it. Chick cholera or white diarrhoea is the trouble. The U. S. government states that over half the chicks hatched die from this cause. An Aycoi tablet placed in the drinking water will positively save your little chicks from all such diseases. Inside of 48 hours the sick ones will be as lively as crickets. Aycoi will keep them healthy and make them grow and develop more rapidly. Mrs. Wm. M. Rago, Ind., writes: "I was losing 10 to 15 chicks a day from diarrhoea before I received the Aycoi. I haven't lost a one since." It costs nothing to try Aycoi. If you don't find that it prevents and promptly cures white diarrhoea, chick cholera and all bowel diseases of poultry, tell us and your money will be refunded by return mail. Aycoi is sold by most druggists and poultry remedy dealers, or you can send 25c or 50c today for a package by mail postpaid. Hurst-Chicago Co., 219 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

The Pitiless Light of Publicity

The buyer of advertising space is just as much entitled to know what he gets for his money as is the purchaser of any other commodity. Dry goods are sold by the yard, eggs and small fruits by the dozen, meats, butter, etc., by the pound, liquids by the quart and practically all other articles by some unit of measurement. But advertising space—alas—is too often sold on unsubstantiated claims and wild guesses and bought with blindfolded eyes.

This should not be. Space buyers should know what they are getting for their money. The means of knowing the truth are at hand. The standards of value are quantity and character of circulation. The yardstick with which to measure them is found in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Let Their Impartial Investigators Turn on the Pitiless Light of Publicity

The publisher who is offering genuine circulation value for the rates he asks and who has nothing to conceal welcomes the investigations of the A. B. C. for they prove the correctness of his statements in an authoritative manner. On the other hand the publisher who does not belong to the A. B. C. encourages the belief that what he is selling is not worth the price he asks and that investigation will not substantiate his claims. It is to the buyer's interest to know the facts.

Space Buyers Should Demand A. B. C. Reports

The man who suffers the most ultimately is the one who buys on claims not supported by facts. He pays a high price for what he gets and does not get that for which he pays. The man who has value to offer does not try to conceal the facts.

Before Buying Space Turn on the Pitiless Light of Publicity

The Daily Gazette always has been advocate of proved circulations. It preached the doctrine when it was mighty unpopular with most publishers. It practiced what it preached by throwing open its books to any interested person and by giving advertisers definite facts. It believes in the A. B. C. and in the use of its reports for space buying.

Velvet Joe

Velvet is a friendly tobacco in the truest sense, because, like friendship, it has been allowed to ripen naturally—nothing forced or unnatural.

There are "hurry up" ways with tobacco but only patient ageing (two years in wooden hogsheads) can bring out the mellowness that sets Velvet apart.

You know what mellowness is—now think of a good friend who is never harsh to you.

There you have the big thing about Velvet—mellow friendliness.

You and Velvet—begin your friendship today.

We are Compelled to Sound A Word of Warning

The Victory Loan Campaign is dragging in the City of Janesville and other parts of Rock County.

This is the truth, and we shall fail in our efforts in some parts of The County if we do not have better results the last half of this week than the first half.

This Campaign Should be the Easiest of all

Let us not be any less patriotic than we have been heretofore. Patriotic fervor ought to stir us to such activities as to make failure in this campaign an impossibility.

We should make this campaign succeed and put the loan "way over the top" in a spirit of gratitude for victory over our enemies, for the saving of our own nation and our allies from the barbaric Huns, for the preservation of our social structure and civilization, and because of the security and future safety of our soldiers and sailors throughout the world.

The investment feature of this bond issue should appeal to us strongly and we may well accept these bonds as gilt-edge investments.

We owe an obligation and it is for us to pay it willingly, generously, and graciously. We told the boys who offered their lives that we would stand behind them, that we would pay the bills, that we would "keep the home fires burning." Now the job has been done, the obligations incurred, and as a matter of national honor we must not fail.

We hear it said that there is danger lest Bolshevism may become rampant in this country as in other countries. A man in a shop who has a financial interest in the corporation that controls the shop does not practice sabotage. If he has a financial interest, by wrecking machinery he is destroying his own property. Those who have United States bonds become stockholders in our great national enterprise. Such men will not try to destroy our institutions. The more widely we can distribute bonds, the more effectively we can meet unsocial and destructive forces.

It is said that banks and trust companies and men of wealth will take these Victory Loan Bonds. This is not what our government desires. On the other hand it wishes to make this a popular loan, as were the others. The funds in the banks and trust companies and in the hands of men of wealth will be needed by the government in the future. These funds are now needed and will be needed and must be kept liquid that they may be available for the readjustments necessary in our commercial and industrial life.

Now, finally and again, let us gird ourselves for the contest and let us put such momentum into the coming days that our quotas will be oversubscribed by the end of this week. It ought to be unthinkable that in these days of victory and golden promise we should fail in appreciation, in outlook, and in breadth of vision to the extent of failing to meet our quotas anywhere in prosperous Rock County.
